ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Cross-Barrier is a new programming language that permits relatively seamless support for both online and offline applications. Programs written in Cross-Barrier will run on the Internet or off the Internet without having to reengineer the source code.